WATCH →

On Monday, December 15 at 12:25 a.m. ET, Falcon 9 launched 29 Starlink satellites to low-Earth orbit from Space Launch Complex 40 (SLC-40) at Cape Canaveral Space Force Station in Florida.

This was the ninth flight for the first stage booster supporting this mission, which previously launched NR0L-69, CRS-32, GPS III-7, USSF-36, and now five Starlink missions. Following stage separation, the first stage landed on the A Shortfall of Gravitass droneship, which was stationed in the Atlantic Ocean.
